

Annika McDermott-Hinman

(847) 471-8834 · annika_mcdermott-hinman@brown.edu

Education

Brown University

Ph.D. Cognitive Science

Expected 2026

Harvard University

B.A. in Linguistics; magna cum laude, with Highest Honors in Linguistics

Thesis: To Learn or Not to Learn: Children's acquisition of negation

Secondary concentration: Computer Science

Publications

McDermott-Hinman, A. & Feiman, R. (in press). The development of negation in language and thought. In F. Blanchette & C. Lukyanenko (Eds.), Perspectives on Negation. De Gruyter Mouton.

Conference Proceedings

Jasbi, M., McDermott-Hinman, A., Davidson, K., & Carey, S. (2020). Parents' and Children's Production of English Negation. Proceedings of the 45th Annual Boston Conference on Language Development, ed. Danielle Dionne and Lee-Ann Vidal Covas, 360-373. Somerville, MA: Cascadilla Press.

Teaching

Graduate Teaching Assistant, Brown University

CLPS 0900 Introduction to Statistical Methods

Fall 2022, Spring 2023

Mentoring

Research Mentor for Peri Clayton, University of Bath undergraduate student

Spring 2022-Fall 2023

Service

Graduate Student Department Liaison

The Harriet W. Sheridan Center for Teaching and Learning, Brown University

Facilitate department communication about teaching needs and coordinate graduate student access to teaching resources

Professional Certifications

Teaching Certificate I: Reflective Teaching

The Harriet W. Sheridan Center for Teaching and Learning, Brown University